DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 3/3/2006 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

1. Claims 1, 3-5, 10-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Elbert (U.S. 3,617,413) in view of Foster (U.S. 5,104,475).
2. Elbert teaches a polymeric ribbon that is extruded and pigmented to look like artificial grass and tuft through a (textile backing) nylon scrim (example 1). The artificial grass has a two-layered backing (see #'s 11-12 of figures 6-7), wherein the bottom layer can be a polyurethane backing (example 9). However, Elbert is silent as to securing two or three portions of it to one another with a hot melt adhesive.

3. Foster teaches a carpet (playing surface) using an edge-to-edge relationship held together using a seam made from polyamide hot-melt and fiberglass fibers (see abstract and column 3 line 1-10). The carpet additionally has a cushioning layer adhesively connected to the floor (column 3 line 50-65). It is the examiners position that the polyamide hot-melt of Foster will inherently possess a softening point about 140 or 150 degrees C. Foster is silent as to being specifically used as an artificial turf, or having a polyurethane backing.

4. Regarding claim 10, the figures of Foster depict a taping mechanism consistent with applicant's claim language.

Regarding claim 11, the inclusion of a third layer of artificial turf would be obvious predicated on the area to be covered.

Claims 6 and 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Elbert in view of Foster as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Spendlove (U.S. 6043,302).

Elbert in view of Foster, discussed above, is silent on the cushion layers being made of rubber.

Spendlove teaches an impact absorbing material made from particulate rubber in a binder used for sports pitches and athletic tracks (abstract). It can be overlayed with a simple sand filled carpet for athletics providing a firm base (column 3 line 1-20). Further, the applicant admits in his specifications background that rubber pads are known in the art.

It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to substitute the padding of Spendlove in the structure of Foster and Layman because it can be overlayed with a simple sand filled carpet for athletics providing a firm base. It would further be obvious from the disclosures of Foster and Layman that an attached padding or cushion is contemplated to be bonded to an adjacent member using the same means as that used to attach the turf itself.

Claims 7 and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Elbert in view of Foster et al in view of Spendlove (U.S. 6043,302) as applied to claim 6 above, and further in view of Kocinec et al (PG-PUB 2003/0044563 A1).

Elbert in view Foster and further in view of Spendlove teach all the limitations of claims 6 as above but are silent on the tape having a polyester fabric backing.

Kocinec teaches a multi-layered hot melt tape with a polyester fabric backing (see abstract). The tape is useful to create a waterproof seam and repairs of rips, tears, or perforations in a fabric (U.S. 0010, 0017).

It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to substitute the tape backing of Kocinec with the tape backing taught by Spendlove to create a waterproof seam.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-11 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
